

COLIN STEWART CONSERVATION AWARD

NOMINATION FORM

The Colin Stewart Conservation Award was established in 2004 by the Halifax Field Naturalists (HFN) to honour the many contributions of the late Colin Stewart (1954-2004) to the preservation of natural areas in Nova Scotia.

The Award is to be given annually to an individual or group for significant conservation efforts in the province. However, the Award may not be made in a year when there is no nominee deemed suitable for the Award by the Board of Directors of HFN.

Nominations for the Colin Stewart Conservation Award will be evaluated by the Colin Stewart Award Committee. Members of the Award Committee must be members of HFN, will be appointed by the Board of Directors and may or may not be Board members.
